MEDIA COVERAGE AND PUBLIC IMPACT

- October 2014-present Consultant for Planned Parenthood Federation of America
With a lawyer at Planned Parenthood Federation of America, I am writing an expert rebuttal report on the science of abortion and mental health, and how prevalent are risk factors for mental health problems after an abortion. This is for a South Dakota law being challenged in the United States District Court for the District of South Dakota Southern Division (Planned Parenthood vs. Daugaard).
- February 2013 My research was cited in an Alaska Senate Panel hearing to counter the notion that medically necessary abortions should be restricted to those for physical health reasons and should exclude those for mental health reasons.
- July 2012 My work was cited in the dissenting opinion of the United States Court of Appeal for the Eighth Circuit's ruling (Planned Parenthood vs. Rounds) on a South Dakota law requiring women be told that having an abortion increase their risk of depression and suicide.
- March 2012 Reuters, livescience.org, The New York Times, and Time magazine featured my work published in Social Science & Medicine and Journal of Psychiatric Research.
- December 2010 Health Blogs of The Washington Post and CBS News covered a 2011 paper that I first-authored in Social Science & Medicine.
- August 2010 Consultant for the Center for Reproductive Rights.
- December 2009 International Planned Parenthood Federation featured a 2009 paper that I first-authored in Contraception.
